My website will be a travel itinerary and planning hub for an upcoming trip to Japan

The landing page will be the travel itinerary page with a list of the activities we plan to do each day. User can click more/less info to expand/hide the additional information for each day (or set of days).
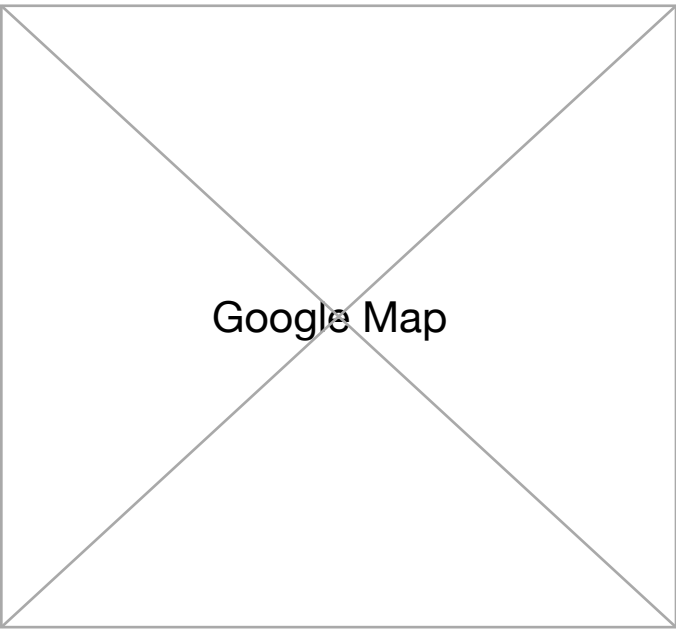

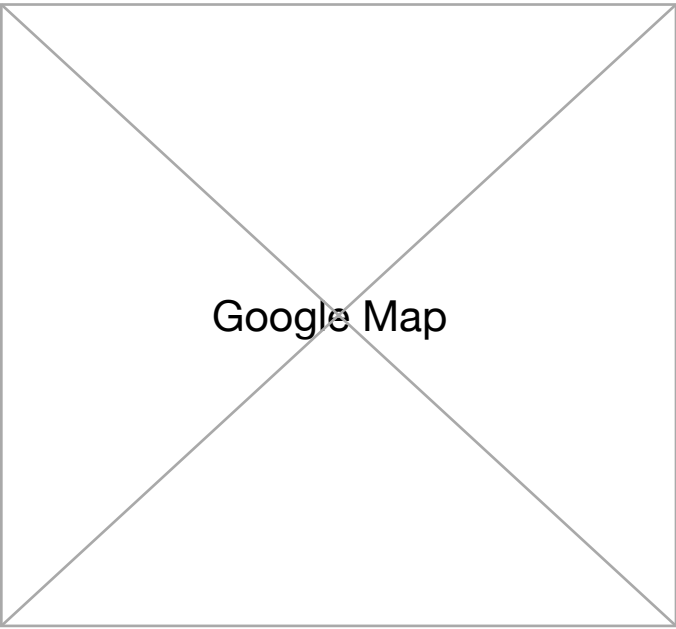

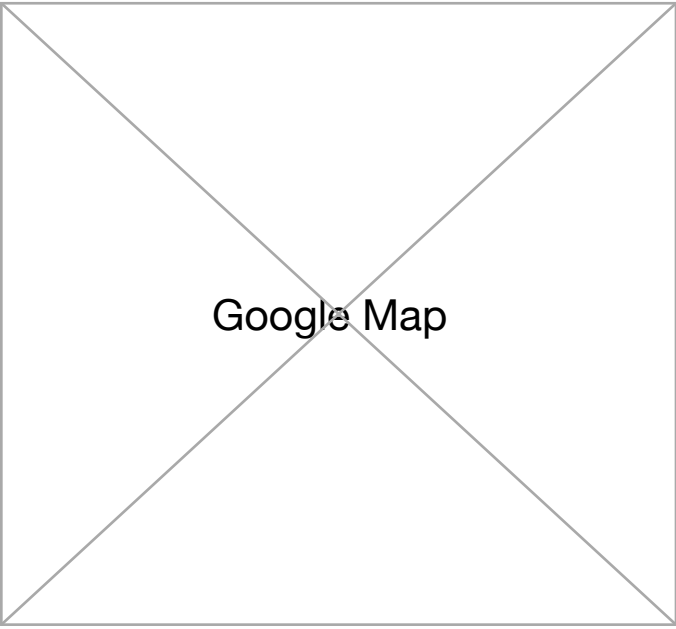

Another page will include details about the AirBnB, including an embed of the location from Google Maps and link back to google maps.

The last page will include a list of additional resource links.
